

COMFORTS OF HOME — What began as a teddy bear drive to bring holiday cheer to hospitalized children has grown to a year-round program called the Angel Cart, "The Cart With A Heart," thanks to Angie Lattus, BeautiControl independent consultant from Hickman, Ky. Baptist Memorial Hospital-Union City has seen the positive impact that goodies like hardcover books, plush animal toys, coloring books and crayons can bring to its pediatric patients. The Angel Cart brings comfort to young patients receiving medical care. Ms. Lattus secured a $1,250 grant from the WHO (Women Helping Others) Foundation. "I'm so thrilled that the WHO Foundation was so generous," she said.

"The WHO grant will make a difference." Kara Ward, marketing and public relations coordinator at BMH-UC, said, "Baptist Memorial Hospital-Union City is so appreciative to Angie Lattus of BeautiControl and the W.H.O.Foundation for this very generous gift that will help our smallest patients and visitors." Meeting recently to discuss the grant were (from left) Ms. Ward, Ms. Lattus, and Jill Hopper and Tammy Albright, nurses representing the "Wee Stitches" pediatric unit of the hospital. Also joining in were Ms. Lattus' children, Joseph and Elizabeth. To learn more about the Angel Cart program or to make a donation, contact Ms. Ward at 884-8750.
